

DARWINMachine Hammerhead HMR989

A DIFFERENT SPECIES OF PC

Charles Darwin's theory of evolution doesn't just apply to living things; in the world of desktop PCs only the strongest will survive, too. So when Dell, HP, Acer et al have fallen by the wayside, DARWINMachine's mean-looking Hammerhead desktop will be the only one left standing. Hand-built to order from anodized aluminium and slabs of eco-resin, with an Intel Core i7 processor, 4GB of RAM, an Nvidia GTX550 TI graphics card and tag team of 40GB solid-state and 1TB hard drives, it's not just its Judge Dredd-meets-Portal industrial aesthetic that gives it strength.
